

XI INTERNATIONAL ACADEMIC SYMPOSIUM
Green investments for the energy transition
Barcelona, February 7th, 2023

The world needs to accelerate the pace of the ecological transition, and this depends to a large extent on a strong increase in green investment, both public and private. Achieving the goals of the Paris Agreement will require the mobilization of a large number of resources over the coming decades. These resources will be allocated to the development and implementation of suitable initiatives, new disruptive technologies, large-scale green infrastructures and novel methods of production and resources management. To achieve this critical transformation, it is essential to establish an efficient framework to channel financial support from private and public sources indistinctively. Keeping the spirit of previous years, the Symposium will offer a platform for debate and discussion of the opportunities and challenges for the achievement of a green and sustainable economy, characterized by its inclusiveness and resilience. Authors are invited to submit empirical papers emphasizing on the energy policy implications applied to oil, gas, or electricity sector.
